Declaration of Sustainable Development

KVIN persistently pursues practices that lead to more environmentally friendly and ecologically responsible decisions in our supply chain and finished products. This commitment is applied to our manufacturing standards, energy management, waste management, environmental protocols, transportation, and raw material sourcing to fulfill sustainable development practices and social responsibilities.

At the same time, we are committed to maximizing resource efficiency to achieve the long-term goal of protecting the global environment and ensuring sustainable resource usage. Regardless of whether it is now or in the future, sustainable development is considered a core virtue and value that will be strictly adhered to at KVIN

Product Details

High Pressure Laminate (HPL) also known as a refractory board, is a high-tempered laminate board made of thermosetting resin, impregnated paper. HPL is a fire-resistant, decorative surface, building material.

KVIN HPL products are rich in surface color, texture, and special physical properties. Characteristics include resistance to wear, scratch, impact, and high temperature. HPL is also easy to clean. HPL is widely used in various interior decorative surfaces, including furniture, cabinets, interior doors, partitions, countertops, decorative ceilings, wall surfaces, pillars and more.
